Weak, Weary Women.

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs. When housework is torture. When night brings no rest nor sleep. When urinary disorders set in. Women's lot is a weary one.

There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured women here in Norway.

Here is a South Paris women's testimony.

Mrs. Georgia Thayer, living on Pleasant St., South Paris, Me., says: "I first used Doan's Kidney Pills a short time ago and can say they have helped me a great deal. My kidneys had been troubling me for quite a while, and I was so much impressed with what I heard in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box from F. A. Shurtlett & Co's drug store. So far I have been well pleased with the results obtained and have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent remedy to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

The Housekeeper's Difficulty.

The Results of a Thoughtless Provider.

I feel I am almost played out. And I can hardly get about. I'm shivering from a dreadful cold that has taken an awful hold.

I'm afraid I shall have the grip. Before I get through with it, I'm sure I shall be a good deal worse than I am now.

My back is aching very hard, while I am trying to get up. My feet are burning very slow. My head is aching and my eyes are watering.

My oven has refused to bake. Potatoes and a Johnny cake. It makes me mad and cross. I often wish I was the boss.

I'd take an ax and get dry wood. I'd be so sure to get a minister's sweat. To see what woman has to bear.

I feel cold as me complete. And I have nothing cooked to eat. I have more work than I can do. My fingers are very numb.

I feel that I must soon succumb. I feel that I must soon succumb. I feel that I must soon succumb.

I am so sure I shall die. I am so sure I shall die. I am so sure I shall die.

To wash and scrub, dust and sweep. I'm almost dead when on my feet. I wish that I had been away.

I'm sure it would make them afraid. Where did I ever find a man like you? Now where it comes from I can't see. This grip is just what I need.

This is just what I need. I am so sure I shall die. I am so sure I shall die. I am so sure I shall die.

When I am young and in my prime. I then would have been a good time. Now old age is creeping on.

My strength and vigor are almost gone. I will take a little time to rest. And then I will be through.

To finish up and be through. With this day's work I have to do. J. C. HOWARD.

The Grip.

"If you're sore in the core, With aching bones, And husky tones, And you're weak in the knees, And often sneeze, Your head near off. And you're sure to get the grip. That's your throat. Feel quite raw, And you're sure to get the grip. Feel as if you'd got a bit, And out pains. Vex your brains, When you're caught in it. You have got it. It's the grip."

A Graduate of Bridgton Academy.

The Hon. Amos T. Saunders of Clinton, Maine, formerly of Waterford—and of Bridgton, where he graduated from the Academy in 1893—is now the republican representative in the Massachusetts legislature from the 10th Worcester district.

Pages 50 of "Outline Sketches of Mass. Legislators 1909," published by A. M. Bridgman of Stoughton, Mass., has the following sketch of Mr. Saunders:

"Saunders, Amos T., 10th Worcester Rep. Clinton, B. Waterford, Me. May 3, 1841. Pub. Sch. Bridgton Acad. (Me.) Counsel '04-5. Moderator '04-5. Mass. Com. (ch. Co. Rep. Clubs. Rep. Towns

Since the above was printed, Mr. Saunders has been assigned rank in position among the new members on the Judiciary Committee and elected clerk of the same.

It is an interesting fact that sixteen of the legislators at the Mass. State House beginning with the Hon. Walter S. Glidden of the Executive Council, who was born in Pittsfield, Me., March 30, '56, we find in addition, three Senators and seven of representatives including the one-time lumberman's boy of "Gambino" in Waterford.

Village and Country.

Social life in the village differs widely from the same article in the country and nowhere is the difference more apparent than on the feminine side of the house as called.

respects the custom of making visits and are quite in the way of spending the afternoon and taking part at the home of some friend; this procedure is strictly in order either with or without invitation, and knitting or sewing needles serve as accompaniment to the busy talk of the housewife, sometimes, as a special favor, the husbands are asked in at the tea hour with the privilege of spending the evening.

But the village custom ignores afternoon visits, limiting friends to formal calls. Mrs. A. drops in upon Mrs. B., spends 15 minutes discussing local matters which are of interest to both parties and then hies away to both parties and then hies away to both parties and then hies away to both parties.

using up another 15 minutes and so on until the social gantlet has been run, either personally or by cards—the latter by the way, being a valuable aid in covering ground—and two hours later the participant returns home satisfied that she has had a delightful time and got a half dozen long neglected jobs wed off her hands.

And, really, with clubs, sewing circles, parish societies, food sales, etc., the occasion for afternoon visitations does not now exist in town life, which may sufficiently explain the difference between certain customs in country and village districts.

Mending a Shirtwaist With a Handkerchief

The sheer handkerchief linen shirtwaist has a provoking way of going into holes just below the collar band long before the rest of the garment begins to show signs of wear. Of course, even the most painstaking darning will destroy the attractiveness of such a shirtwaist when the mending must be in such a conspicuous place. One clever woman has hit upon the notion of setting into such shirtwaists the fine linen handkerchiefs which come with small bow hem.

The handkerchief, with the blouse with the points coming at back and front and on the shoulder seams. A sufficient space is cut away near hem or facing finishes the opening at back or front.

Hunting in Maine Woods.

Good Sport and Little Hardship Involved.

Hunting in the Maine woods is now more popular than it is today. Notwithstanding that hundreds and hundreds of sportsmen pour into the State every fall, the quantity of game, thanks to numerous legislative enactments, continues to be numerous enough to make an annual fall hunting trip worth while.

Only one moose, two deer and one bear may Sir Nimrod kill each year—a restriction not at all onerous as it might appear at first glance. With butchery eliminated the sportsman has the pleasure at all events of going after his quarry and getting a reasonable gratification of his desires.

Then there are other aspects of a hunting trip to Maine. From one end of the game-populated districts to the other have been established in the last few years camps where a sportsman may have a pretty good time. What of hardship remains is the relatively satisfactory hardship—which every true sportsman expects and really wants, the occasional sleep under pines, the long tramp across country, the fording of streams, the uncertainty of blizzards, the question of game begins at daylight and ends about dusk, when, after a walk of a few miles, everybody is back at camp again, ready and willing to eat a huge slab of moose or deer steak, hear a round of good stories and then turn in for the night.

Perhaps in all America no region is more shot over, so to speak, than Maine. Thousands of carcasses of deer and moose are shipped out of the State every year.

Even earlier than October sportsmen from all parts of the United States go to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, where the open season antedates that in New England. Miramichi country in New Brunswick is a favored locality. In the Canaan and Salmon river region moose are plentiful and fine trophies are brought forth by the sportsmen. The hunting is not difficult and the game sections are reached without arduous effort.

In Maine the hunting camps are much more accessible nowadays than they were 10, 15 or 20 years ago. With the aid of such skilled guides as Maine produces in abundance there is no reason why the sportsman should not get a fair share of the glory.

It isn't easy for any one save the experienced travelers to the Maine woods to make off-hand a selection of camp or hunting district and a study of the circulars will only add to his confusion. One selection by the novice is quite as good as another. The experienced hunter, of course, learned the State by heart—and then he has the advice of other experienced hunters.—[Boston Herald.

When Photographed.

"What shall I wear and how shall I dress my hair?" are problems every woman solves when she has her photograph taken.

Some decide upon the toilet after such self-questioning as: "Shall my costume be a simple street dress—an afternoon gown—high or low in the neck—my sleeves shall they be short or long?"

The choice of color, too, should enter largely into the problem, for of course some shades "take" much better than others.

Now, while it is advised that the simplest kind of robe be worn when one is photographed, it should be a frock that will not date the picture because of pronounced style, thus making the likeness hopelessly old-fashioned in a few years. A picturesque toilet is to be preferred to a merely up-to-date fashionable one, for attractive models never really go out of fashion.

For this reason when the neck and shoulders are pretty there is no better model than the décolleté, draped with chiffon or a soft frill.

Looking over old photographs it will be seen that the neck dressing more than any other portion of the picture decides the date at which the picture was taken. Hence the wisdom of adopting a style that never grows old.

Elbow sleeves will be a safe choice, although there is no objection to quite short sleeves provided the arms are pretty.

Black takes better than colors and a black frock cut comparatively low and draped around the shoulder with white will make a clear photograph with sharply defined lines.

gray. Pale blue, pale pink, mauve and brown, heliotrope, navy blue and dark, such as cerise, appear black when photographed.

Stripes, checks or plaid are not a success in a picture, as they have a tendency to cut the picture, and this, of course is made still more emphatic in a photograph.

When a hat is worn it should always be of the "picture" order, such as a Gainsborough or Duchess of Devonshire, are in good taste, provided, of course, they are becoming to the wearer, says the Evening Times.

Veils should not be worn in a photograph only for the reason that it is "touch up" or "tone down" the features when covered with a veil, and there are few faces that do not require a little retouching.

Hairdressing in relation to a photograph is a most important detail. The hair should never by any chance be arranged so it is too tight, no matter whether or not the evaporation follows a tight, severe effect in everyday life.

Here, too, fashion should be sacrificed for becomingness. A full, fat face should have the hair dressed high, the hair on the sides just puffed and fluffed. Too much hair around the face will require and so should be avoided. The slightly waved pompadour is always in good taste.

Over faces can wear the hair dressed in the Grecian knot or arranged at the nape of the neck.

Too many hair ornaments are not desirable; instead a fluffy bit of upstanding aigrette or a wired knot of ribbon will give the best results.

Make-up should not be applied. Rouge put on cheeks or lips will cause them to show almost black.

Dark persons, as a rule, make the best photographs. This is due, of course, to the fact that the eyes, lashes and eye brows, being dark, are more accentuated than is often the case with those who are fair.

Stout women should never attempt a sweeping draperies, and even then it is not advisable. A bust only, or a three-quarter length, is a far better choice.

Tall, slender women will, of course, show the figure to advantage when taken full length.

Posing may safely be left to the artist, who will probably know better than the sitter how the best points may be brought out.

To relieve the worst forms of Rheumatism, take a teaspoonful of the following mixture after each meal and at bedtime:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce;

Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

These harmless ingredients can be obtained from our home druggists, and are easily mixed by shaking them well in a bottle. Relief is generally felt from the first few doses.

This prescription forces the clogged-up, inactive kidneys to filter and strain from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, which causes Rheumatism.

As Rheumatism is not only the most painful and tortuous disease, but dangerous to life, this simple recipe will no doubt be greatly valued by many sufferers here at home, who should at once prepare the mixture to get this relief.

It is said that a person who would take this prescription regularly, a dose or two daily, or even a few times a week, would never have serious Kidney or Urinary disorders or Rheumatism.

Cut this out and preserve it. Good

Rheumatism prescriptions which really relieve are scarce, indeed, and when you need it, you want it badly. 25 for many years in Chicago, where he and his son, Henry, have built up a large furniture establishment.

Of George Ballard's three sons who moved away, Edwin married Martha

Andrews of Lovell village. They moved to Wisconsin, where he became one of the leading physicians. He is now dead and his wife is living with her two children in North Dakota. Dr. John Ballard is now living at Galesburg, Ill.,

where he is one of the leading M. D.'s.

He is married and has one daughter who makes his home. Melvin is a mute and for more than 40 years has been a teacher in the deaf and dumb school at Washington, D. C. He is married and has several children.

Henry Barback, son of Arthur, is living at Danielson, Ct., where he has a fine home. He has been employed for more than 30 years as foreman of the machine shops of the Danielson Cotton mills. He is married and has one daughter, who is his sister. His sister, Edna, lives in Providence, R. I. Her husband, Benjamin Bailey, until his death was agent for the Danielson Cotton mills.

Frank Shirley, who was for many years

a popular member of the Fryeburg village, moved to Crawford, Neb., where he died. He had one son, a doctor now living in Massachusetts.

Dexter Andrews, son of Abraham, was a surgeon in the army during the Civil War. He settled in Wisconsin, where he became prominent as a physician and business man. He invested in lumber and mining property and became wealthy. He also represented his district in the State Senate. He was twice married and outlived both his wives, and died at River Falls, Wis., in 1885. He had one child, a daughter, Amy, who died a few years later.

Benjamin Andrews moved to Wisconsinn, where he married and was engaged in the lumber business with his brother,

Dexter. He died some years ago.

Mary also moved to Wisconsin, where she married and died a few years later.

MARK DOWN SALE of Men's Clothing

About this time of year you expect "clearing sales" and that sort of thing. They are offered you on every hand. Consider two things: the character of the store making the offer; the character of the goods offered.

Copyright 1908 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

If you'll do that, we'll rest our case without further evidence. This store is known as a high quality store; we never have any other kind of merchandise to sell. We sell only clothing than we can guarantee. We're selling now the surplus overcoats and suits from our winter stock. The clean up of this season at prices below the actual worth of the clothes. There never was a better opportunity to buy good clothes than now and here.

WEST PARIS.

Logan-Page.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dunham on Greenwood street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when their niece, Althea M. Page, was united in marriage to Fred F. Logan of 184 Congress street, Portland, by Rev. Seth Benson. The single ring service was used. Only the immediate family and a few invited guests were present. After the ceremony a lunch was served in the dining room consisting of pie, cake, cocoa and fruit.

For several years or since the death of her parents, Miss Page has made her home with her aunt. For a year past she has been in Portland, where she found employment. She is a young lady of quiet though very pleasant manner and respected by all. Mr. Logan is a steam and pipe fitter in the employ of the G. T. R. R. Co. machine shop at Deering and seems like a very nice young man.

They will make their home in Portland as soon as a suitable rent is found. Until then Mrs. Logan will remain here with her aunt. Mr. Logan returned on Monday. Many useful and valuable presents were received, some were sent direct to Portland. The following were among those received here:—Table cloth, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dunham; one dozen napkins, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Day; one pair towels, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cole; berry dish, pie and berry spoons, Mrs. H. L. Foss; one-half dozen cocoa spoons, match safe, berry dish, comb and brush tray, cheese plate, tooth pick holder, bon-bon dish, towel, bureau scarf, Harry Page, her only brother.

Jacob Paine Curtis.

Jacob Paine Curtis, who has been very sick for several weeks, died at his home Sunday morning, Jan. 17. He was in his 67th year having been born May 30, 1842, on an adjoining farm to his own, where he and his companion have spent their entire married life. The home is pleasantly situated on the side of Curtis Hill about a mile and a half from West Paris village.

Mr. Curtis was well known in this vicinity and a much respected citizen. He will be greatly missed among his neighbors and a host of friends. He leaves beside his wife, Cynthia E. Curtis, one daughter, Mrs. Geneva G. Tuck, of this place, who has been with her parents for the past two or three weeks.

The funeral services were held at the Universalist church, Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 11 o'clock. Rev. Israel S. Macmillan spoke words of comfort. The floral tributes were mostly in white and very beautiful.

The Good Will society was entertained at Mrs. F. E. Wheeler's last week Wednesday.

S. C. Curtis of Boston came Saturday evening and spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. A. R. Bucknam.

The Grange is planning for a drama to be played in a month or six weeks. Rehearsals have already commenced.

John Korhonen has had one leg amputated and a second operation which was found necessary it is hoped will be successful.

Dr. O. K. Yates, esq., seems to be the most popular man at present to solemnize weddings. He officiated at four last week, two last Saturday.

Janie Rice of New York, who has recently returned from a trip abroad, spent last week with her friend, Mrs. Elva E. Locke; and Mrs. J. L. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Butler and two children from Cooperstown, North Dakota, are visiting their aunt and cousin, Mrs. Martha Young and daughter, Cora Young.

Frank Mayhew got his under lip cut quite badly in the woods last Saturday, he came out Sunday to have it seen to and it was found necessary to take two stitches.

Rev. Stanley G. Spear of Dexter will speak at the Universalist church, Sunday morning, Jan. 31, in exchange with Miss Macmillan. Mr. Spear is State president of the Young People's Christian Union and the young people of that church are planning some special music for the occasion.

The Union Gospel Temperance meeting will be held at the Methodist church, Jan. 31, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The committee expect a speaker from away. There will also be the "Willard memorial observance in connection with it and the usual collection taken for that purpose. Good music is expected. Further notice will be given next week.

The ladies' social circle of the Free Baptist church held their annual meeting, Jan. 8th, at Mrs. G. A. Smith's. The secretary's report showed an increase in membership and attendance, also the treasurer's report was in advance of the previous year. The following officers were elected:

- Pres.—Mrs. A. D. Coburn.
- V. Pres.—Mrs. C. G. Morton.
- Sec.—Mrs. S. T. White.
- Treas.—Mrs. E. B. Stetson.
- Supp. Com.—Mrs. White, Mrs. W. H. Emery, Mrs. Roscoe Tull, Mrs. F. Willis, Mrs. G. A. Smith.

West Paris Grange will have a sale at Dunham's hall, Jan. 29. There will be a free program in the afternoon consisting of vocal and instrumental music and in the evening a sociable and dancing by those who desire it. There will be a good variety on sale. Following are the committees: the tables, etc.—Hall decorations, Mr. and Mrs. Will Berry, Mrs. Minnie Day, Mrs. Della F. Reed; candy table, Mrs. Edith Day, Ora Field; aprons and fancy work, Mrs. A. J. Abbott, Mrs. Harris Ellingwood, Mrs. Will Berry; food and canned goods, Mrs. Minnie Day, Mrs. Grace Stevens, Mrs. Moses Foss, Mrs. Emma Porter; vegetables and fruit, F. L. Wyman, A. J. Abbott; mystery tree, Mrs. Della Reed, Mrs. Maud Day.

FRYEBURG CENTER.

Rebekah installation, Jan. 13th.

Warren Swift is staying at C. P. Gray's.

Mrs. Isabel Noyes of Norway is visiting at George Noyes'.

Mrs. Harold Gray of the village was a guest at C. P. Gray's last week.

Ned Fox of Lovell bought Percy Jones' hay and removed it from the barn here last week.

The school was not in session Monday in consequence of the heavy snow. About 15 inches here.

The L. O. O. F. had an oyster supper at the installation Jan. 7th, and a large attendance of members.

Mrs. Maria Clarke has returned to Mrs. Frye's, from North Conway, where she had been for a number of weeks.

George Noyes wishes his many friends to know he is having great success in the hen business—told me his flock were laying to "beat the band." The flock consists of two Bantams.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. Install. Saturday, Jan. 16th, the T. A. Roberts Post, G. A. R. and the W. R. C. met at S. of T. hall for the purpose of installing their officers elect for the coming year.

After a bountiful lunch had been served at noon, the company was called to order by Post Commander, A. J. Holden, who announced the business of the hour.

Comrade Cyrus T. Wardwell, a member of the Department staff, acted as installing officer and Capt. Buckman of Maine, acting as officer of the day.

After some remarks by comrades, the ladies proceeded to install their officers, Bertie M. Phillips acting as installing officer for the corps. After the ceremony several speeches by comrades and visitors added to the interest of the occasion.

The duet by Ida Stone and Rev. Mr. Farnsworth was greatly enjoyed by those present.

The officers in addition to those published in the ADVERTISER of Jan. 8th or changes are: In the Post, Sur. D. H. Staples; S. N. A. C. Grover, S. W. Farnum. In the W. R. C. A. C. Abby Lovejoy; A. G. Maria Heslop; P. C. Lydia Spurr; color bearers, Sibbie Hancome, Mary Frost, Annie Elden and Ida Davis.

Miss Phillips installed the officers of the W. R. C. Mrs. Chandler as retiring president received two valuable souvenirs of silver, the gift of the Post and Corps. The past year has been the most prosperous one since its organization in 1898. Among the memorable events of 1908 was that of our own anniversary Feb. 10, and the twentieth anniversary of the Post, April 10, when the Corps made the Post a present of $20.

Mrs. Mary Frost and Oena White were in Norway, Friday.

Edwin J. Parrott made a business trip to Boston, Friday, the 15th.

Percy Adams was in town, Tuesday, calling upon his many friends.

Mrs. Grace Emmons and Mrs. Mary Bumpus were in Lewiston, Saturday.

Prof. Dyer, principal O. H. S., made a business trip to Lewiston, Friday night, returning to town, Saturday.

Mabel Lombard of High street, who has been confined to the house with illness, is reported somewhat better.

Jessie and Vera Kay attended the dance at Mechanic Falls, Friday evening, Jan. 15, remaining over night with their aunt and returning Saturday morning.

Sunday's snow storm furnished the first work for the road breakers so far during the winter. About a foot of dry, hard snow fell in some places it was drifted quite badly.

Mrs. Mary Living went to Turner, Saturday, intending to return Sunday, but Sunday's storm tied up the trolley line between Turner and Lewiston so that Mary did not get into Lewiston until 11 p. m., returning on first train Monday morning.

Allert Irving of High street was examined, Monday, as to the advisability of removing him to the asylum at Augusta. Commitment papers were made out and he was taken, Tuesday, to the asylum.

Mr. Irving as the result of an accident five years ago received a severe blow on the left side of his head. He had a severe concussion of the brain and was unconscious six days. Since then he has been gradually failing and is at the present time in bad condition. The special senses are impaired, speech hesitating, memory gone, walking very difficult, excitable and totally irresponsible for whatever he might do.

Oxford Building association held a meeting Wednesday evening Jan. 13, at the office of the Robinson Mfg. Co. The following officers were elected:

Treas.—John B. Robinson.
Pres.—George Hazz.
Clk.—E. W. Edwards.
Directors—Edwin Carrott, A. S. Fuller, Geo. H. Jones and James Kay.

The association voted to pay the interest on debt and $100 on the principal.

The regular meeting of Oxford Grange was held Saturday evening, Jan. 16th, in S. of T. hall. The newly elected officers occupied their respective chairs and the business promptly. Two applications for membership were received and more to follow. Oxford Grange has a good foundation with 170 working members in good standing. Let each member take hold with a will and see if we cannot round out the year with 200 or more members. On Feb. 6th, our next meeting, a strong literary program is promised. Let every member come if possible as there will be balloting for admission of new members.

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 19, Craigie Temple Pythian Sisters held their public installation of officers. Robinson hall was well filled with the public was treated to the best free show they ever witnessed. The opening was beautiful and gave evidence of what was to follow. The actual installation was carried out without a hitch and the ladies made a most pleasing sight dressed in white and doing their work with a precision which takes long practice and the tableau display by four little girls and the tableau of one of the features; but the bright, particular feature of the evening was the drill by the degree team. The Sisters take a great interest in their order and have the work of their degree team developed to a high state of perfection. There isn't another order in the State that tries to do things well and makes so favorable an impression as the Pythian Sisters. At close of drill a fine literary program was given as follows:

Song—Lennie Lebrake.
Recitation—Florence Eaton.
Trombone solo—Edgar Andrews.
Song—Edgar Andrews.
